

Young Group Keeps London Updated With News Podcasts

29 October 2008

Following the success of London Update, the regular monthly round up of market news from property portfolio managers, Young Group, the company has launched a series of London Update podcasts.

The London Update podcasts enable anyone with an interest in London property to listen to latest news and views whilst on the move.

Initially launching with 2 channels, each month, Young Groups London Update: Economic and Market News podcast presents an objective and unbiased roundup of the UK's latest economic indicators and gauges of London's property market. The podcast also takes the opportunity to highlight latest regeneration activity being undertaken across the capital. Its impartial delivery enables listeners to form their own opinions of the current state and future outlook of London's residential property sector.

In addition, Young Groups London Update: Feature podcast takes an in-depth look at a different aspect of the world of property; from construction and the role of housing; to the economy, market movements and investments. This month's feature podcast casts an eye over the world's tallest buildings, examines how construction is changing, the new heights that sky scrapers are reaching and asks what the future holds for high-rise living.

Both of Young Groups London Update podcasts can be downloaded from www.younggroup.co.uk/podcast or via iTunes.

Commenting on the new London Update podcasts Neil Young, Young Groups CEO explains; We enjoy keeping on top of the news agenda, but it's also a vital part of our property portfolio management service. By assessing the implications of economic and market news and sharing our expertise, knowledge and opinions, we were able to offer an enhanced service to our investor clients, whilst giving them the information to enable them to form their own views.

Young Groups London Update has gained a superb readership since launching back in October 2005 and were keen to ensure that as many people as possible can benefit from the concise, impartial information that it has to offer. By launching the London Update podcasts, we were offering readers the chance to subscribe and listen to the news at a time that's convenient to them.
